Mum highlights perils of internet to students

STUDENTS at Barking and Dagenham College said online safety sessions from the mother of a 14-year-old boy killed by an internet predator was emotional and eye-opening.

Lorin LaFave, mother of Breck Bednar, visited the college as part of its Safe College Week.

In February 2014, Breck, from Caterham, Surrey, was groomed and murdered by 18-year-old Lewis Daynes, of Grays, Essex.

Lorin and the Breck Foundation Speakers travel the UK training police, educators, health practitioners, safeguarding leads, parents and pupils.

Daynes ran a gaming server where he befriended boys and wowed them with stories about his computer expertise, claiming to run a tech company.

He gained Breck's trust by chatting to him online.

Daynes lured Breck to his flat, saying he wanted to give him a job but sexually assaulted him and slashed his throat.

BEAM PARK GREEN LIGHT

PLANS for a £1billion 3,000-home development have been approved by City Hall.

They were approved by deputy mayor of London, Jules Pipe, acting under powers delegated by the Mayor of London, Sadiq Khan.

The 29-hectare Beam Park development will be built on the site of a former Ford factory by the River Thames.

The site, which spans Barking and Dagenham, and Havering, was initially subject to approval from both councils.

Havering Council rejected the plans in April but Barking and Dagenham Council accepted it.

The London mayor's office intervened to call in the application process and overruled Havering Council's rejection at a Greater London Authority (GLA) public hearing at City Hall last week.

Home builders Countryside, and residential developers L&Q have pledged to deliver 50 per cent affordable housing or 1,513 homes.

The development includes a Beam Park railway station on the c2c line, two schools, a nursery, a medical centre, and shops, all centred on a three-hectare park

Andy Rowland, managing director for east region at L&Q, said: "Housing supply is a serious concern for many Londoners, and with 50 per cent affordable housing, Beam Park is helping to contribute to the solution. The land for the Beam Park redevelopment is one of the largest sites released by the Mayor of London and the GLA to provide new homes for Londoners."

Bailey takes on Khan in London mayor race

by Charles Thomson

basildon@yellowad.co.uk

SHAUN Bailey has been announced as the Conservatives' London mayoral candidate to challenge Sadiq Khan in the 2020 elections.

Mr Bailey, of Harold Hill, won 43 per cent of the votes – beating Andrew Boff, 36 per cent, and Joy Morrissey, 21 per cent.

He said: "For someone who grew up in a council house in one of the poorest parts of London, securing this nomination is proof that our city truly is the place where anything is possible."

"London has given me so much. It's why I've spent my entire adult life trying to repay its generosity, either through my twenty plus years of youth work helping to steer children away from a life of crime and towards work opportunities, or my current involvement on the London Assembly, where I have done my best to hold the current mayor to account."

Mr Bailey, who has served on the London Assembly since 2016, is focusing his mayoral bid on transport and challenging Sadiq's crime and home building records.

He added: "After two and a half years of Sadiq Khan, it is clear we cannot afford more of the same."

"I look forward to meeting with Londoners in every borough and continuing the conversation about how we can do better to make sure London works for everyone."

Last month Mr Khan announced a new approach to combating violence – taking inspiration from a successful system employed for more than a decade in Glasgow.

Literary festival to thrill culture vultures and book worms

HAVERING is set to host its first ever literary festival in November.

Over a three-week period residents will be able to enjoy talks from the likes of Great British Bake Off Winner

Candice Brown, author and former politician Jeffrey Archer, ex-West Ham United players Tony Cottee and Tony Gale, and Helen Pankhurst the great-granddaughter of Emmeline

Pankhurst. Events will be hosted at Rainham Hall and local libraries from November 5-24. For more information visit: <https://www.havering.gov.uk/haveringliteraryfestival>.

Mini Holland consultation looks 'flawed'

RESIDENTS have claimed a consultation into expanding the Mini Holland risks being flawed.

Critics said Waltham Forest Council's online feedback form let them respond multiple times from the same computer, or newly created fake e-mail addresses.

The consultation asks how people feel about cycle lanes being extended to Markhouse Village, which could cause road closures and cut parking spaces.

Ex-council employee James O'Rourke, of Walthamstow, said he was worried the issues left the consultation open to manipulation and would make the results useless.

In a letter to the authority, he wrote: "Comments on Facebook are alleging abuse of the online survey by way of individuals being able to respond multiple times. On the evidence I have been provided with, the consultation is flawed and previous consultations are likely to have been flawed as well."

A council spokesperson said: "To allow people using shared computers, such as in our libraries or those living in the same property, to respond we have not blocked multiple responses from devices or email addresses."

"We have been asking participants to provide a postcode and made it clear that any responses without a valid postcode may not be considered."

"Each online user must verify themselves through a valid email address, otherwise their comments may not be considered."

The consultation is at <https://markhousearea.commonplace.is/overview>.

HAT-TRICK: Queen's Theatre is the most welcoming theatre in the east

Queen's Theatre wins top award for a third year

QUEEN'S Theatre Hornchurch has been named the most welcoming theatre in the east for the third year running.

UK Theatre announced the regional and national winners of this year's Most Welcoming Theatre award on September 28.

Douglas Rintoul, artistic director at the venue, said: "At the Queen's Theatre we're reaching out to many more members of our community - who may not have previously felt able to visit the theatre - with several new initiatives: a more diverse programme, special ticket prices for under-26s, relaxed and dementia-friendly performances, more audio described performances and £1 tickets for first-timers."

"This award is a real testament to the passion, care and pride embodied by our brilliant staff."

The Queen's Theatre is among 12 regional and national winners invited to the awards night on October 14, at London's Guildhall, when a national winner will be announced.

SPORTING CHANCE: One of the pitches at the Feel Good Too Centre

Centre to offer first class sports for all

A NEW sports facility is set to open in Leyton.

Residents can try it out with free taster sessions at the Feel Good Too Centre, off Ive Farm Close, on Saturday, October 6.

From 11am until 4pm, Waltham Forest Hockey Club, Side Out Beach Volleyball Club, and Eton Manor Athletics Club will be running taster sessions.

Waltham Forest Council's cabinet member for economic growth and high streets, Councillor Simon Miller, said: "The council has invested around £11million in new facilities at the Feel Good Too Centre to provide first class sport and community facilities for residents.

"This is part of our commitment to improve the life chances of our residents by encouraging people to be fit and healthy and to provide a borough which is a great place in which to live and work

"Having provided these first class facilities we want to see them well used by clubs and residents, not just from across the borough."

The facilities include two floodlit all-weather sports pitches; a 60-metre running track; six-beach volleyball courts; changing facilities and cafe; plus growing beds for residents to hire to grow fruit and vegetables.

Budgeting support with Universal Credit

A range of support services are available to help you budget right from the start of your Universal Credit claim.

Universal Credit supports you if you are on a low income or out of work and is paid as a single monthly payment. It will usually be up to you to pay your rent and bills for the month using this money. You may be used to managing your money on a monthly basis, but if not there is plenty of help available. You can talk to your work coach about the type of help you might need. Options could include an online service, advice sessions by phone, or face-to-face support.

To keep track of finances Nick Hill at the Money Advice Service advises claimants to:

Draw up a budget of your household income and outgoings to make sure you can pay all your bills and manage your money across the month.

Work out your priorities. Top of your list should be paying your rent on time. To adjust to monthly payments, you could ask your landlord to move the day your rent is due closer to the day your Universal Credit is paid. This way, it's always the first thing you sort out when your money comes in. If you're ever in trouble with housing and are worried about your situation speak to your landlord straight away.

Consider setting up Direct Debits/standing orders. This means your most important bills are paid automatically. It can also be useful to keep reminders on your calendar or phone for when these payments are coming out to help keep an eye on your bank balance. If your bank provides an app, make use of it to help avoid going into the red.

Couples must prepare for joint payments. If you're in a couple and both of you receive benefits, Universal Credit means that you'll now need to make a joint claim and will get a single monthly payment for your household. This might mean you need to manage your money together more closely than in the past. A joint account can make this much easier, as long as you are like-minded when it comes to spending and can agree to a budget. If you're worried about this speak confidentially to your work coach.

To help you manage your Universal Credit payments, you can use the Money Manager budgeting tool found on the Money Advice Service website.

Pet poetry hits right note with Rhymesters

YOUTHFUL wonder and elderly wisdom collaborated for an inter-generational poetry session for Older People's Week.

The Redbridge Rhymesters, a poetry group for over-50s, has been run by poet Alexandra Wilde, 71, for almost a decade.

Pupils from Snaresbrook Primary School joined the Redbridge Rhymesters to create poetry about pets at the Allan Burgess Centre on Tuesday, October 2.

Alexandra said: "It was one of the best sessions we've ever had, with a lively input from everyone taking part. It had quite an international flavour, too, with one lady from Hong Kong performing some of her beautifully written work."

The group has more events planned.

Residents face fines of £400 over bin error on wrong day

REDBRIDGE Council is trialling a new scheme to combat fly-tipping outside homes above shops.

The scheme, part of the council's Our Streets initiative, began on Monday, September 24.

Residents living in the 50 flats in Woodlands Road, between Grange Road and Hampton Road, Ilford, were supplied with five red bin bags per week.

Occupiers were instructed to place their red bags out Monday to Friday only at points between 7pm and 7am.

Failure to put out waste at the designated time or use any other bin bags may result in a fine of up to £400.

Councillor John Howard, cabinet member for civic pride, said: "Grime crime has no place in our borough and we have made it very clear that we will do everything in our power to stamp it out.

"This scheme aims to stop people spoiling their neighbourhoods by dumping their rubbish in the street which attracts further fly-tipping, littering and illegally dumped commercial waste from adjacent shops.

"All residents in the scheme have been fully informed of the new arrangements and should now dispose of their rubbish responsibly or they can expect to face on-the-spot fines or prosecution."

The council confirmed that after three months a decision will be made whether to roll it out in more areas.
